DETAILED ACTION

Claims 68-83 are pending.

Please Note: claims 73 and 77 are directed to uses of the claimed Helicobacter bindings substances and are being read as being directed to methods of use claims rather than composition claims.

Lack Of Unity

1. Restriction is required under 35 U.S.C. 121 and 372.

This application contains the following inventions or groups of inventions which are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

In accordance with 37 CFR 1.499, applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single invention to which the claims must be restricted.

Group I, claim(s) 68-72, 74-76, 79-80, drawn to a plurality of species of Helicobacter binding substances.

Group II, claim(s) 73, 77, 82-83, drawn to a plurality of methods of treating or carrying out bindings assays with Helicobacter binding substances.

Group III, claim(s) 78, drawn to oligosaccharide binding substance of a structurally different formula (A or B).

2. The inventions listed as Groups I, II and III do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, they lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The first appearing claimed invention where q1, q2, r1, r2 or 3 and s may be 0 or 1, defines an oligosaccharide which is described by Angstrom et al (1998). Therefore, the instantly claimed invention is not so linked by a special technical feature that makes a contribution over the prior art; the claimed inventions lack unity of invention in light of the Helicobacter binding substances described in Angstrom et al, specifically GgO4 (++) and Isoglobotri (+).

3. This application contains claims directed to more than one species of the generic invention. These species are deemed to lack unity of invention because they are not so linked as to form a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1.

The species are as follows:

Group I: A plurality of species are defined in claims 68, and 72 based upon the formula recited in claim 68, and the 18 species recited in claim 72. Claim 81 does not require the formula oligosaccharide to be a terminal oligosaccharide.

Group II: a) species of treating with one of the species of Group I

b) species of carrying out binding assays with a species of Group I

Group III: a plurality of species defined by formula 9, A saccharide or B-saccharide with any of the R (1-10), X, Y and Z components of the formula. Applicant is requested to choose a starting point for examination based upon one of the claimed species.

Applicant is required, in reply to this action, to elect a single species to which the claims shall be restricted if no generic claim is finally held to be allowable. The reply must also identify the claims readable on the elected species, including any claims subsequently added. An argument that a claim is allowable or that all claims are generic is considered non-responsive unless accompanied by an election.

Upon the allowance of a generic claim, applicant will be entitled to consideration of claims to additional species which are written in dependent form or otherwise include all the limitations of an allowed generic claim as provided by 37 CFR 1.141. If claims are added after the election, applicant must indicate which are readable upon the elected species. MPEP § 809.02(a).

Art Unit: 1645

4. The claims are deemed to correspond to the species listed above in the following manner:

The following claim(s) are generic: no claims are generic.

5. The species listed above do not relate to a single general inventive concept under PCT Rule 13.1 because, under PCT Rule 13.2, the species lack the same or corresponding special technical features for the following reasons: The first appearing claimed invention where q1, q2, r1, r2 or r3 and s may be 0 or 1, defines an oligosaccharide which is described by Angstrom et al (1998). Therefore, the instantly claimed invention is not so linked by a special technical feature that makes a contribution over the prior art; the claimed inventions lack unity of invention in light of the Helicobacter binding substances described in Angstrom et al, specifically GgO4 (++) and Isoglobotri (+).

6. Applicant is advised that the reply to this requirement to be complete must include (i) an election of a species or invention to be examined even though the requirement be traversed (37 CFR 1.143) and (ii) identification of the claims encompassing the elected invention.

The election of an invention or species may be made with or without traverse. To reserve a right to petition, the election must be made with traverse. If the reply does not distinctly and specifically point out supposed errors in the restriction requirement, the election shall be treated as an election without traverse.

Should applicant traverse on the ground that the inventions or species are not patentably distinct, applicant should submit evidence or identify such evidence now of record showing the inventions or species to be obvious variants or clearly admit on the record that this is the case. In either instance, if the examiner finds one of the inventions unpatentable over the prior art, the evidence or admission may be used in a rejection under 35 U.S.C.103(a) of the other invention.

Art Unit: 1645

7. Applicant is reminded that upon the cancellation of claims to a non-elected invention, the inventorship must be amended in compliance with 37 CFR 1.48(b) if one or more of the currently named inventors is no longer an inventor of at least one claim remaining in the application. Any amendment of inventorship must be accompanied by a request under 37 CFR 1.48(b) and by the fee required under 37 CFR 1.17(i).

Any inquiry concerning this communication or earlier communications from the examiner should be directed to Ginny Portner whose telephone number is (571) 272-0862. The examiner can normally be reached on flextime, but usually M-F, alternate Fridays off.
